CHRISTIAN BLOGGER DC DISTRICT DIVA WINS BEST FAITH-BASED BLOG AT BLACK WEBLOG AWARDS

Los Angeles, CA – At the 6th Annual Black Weblog Awards ceremony on Saturday night, Christian blogger Brooke Obie, “The DC District Diva,” won the award for Best Faith-Based Blog for her blog DCDistrictDiva.com. Black Weblog Awards co-Host, actress and comedienne Kim Coles presented Ms. Obie with the award at the event’s first-ever live ceremony. Over 3,500 blogs were submitted for consideration in this year’s awards. DCDistrictDiva.com beat out four other finalists to win. This is the fifth Black Weblog nomination and second win for Ms. Obie’s blog, which picked up the Black Weblog Award for Best New Blog in 2010.

Ms. Obie uses her platform to document her own spiritual journey and adds fresh, Bible-based perspective for young adults on everything from love and dating, to politics and social justice. Her blog’s motto is “Chasing God + Purpose,” and that is also her daily goal.
